

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

NOTICE TO THE FIFTH PART.

ON the publication of the Fourth Part of this work, it seemed to me that I had surmounted the most difficult half of my undertaking, and that the remainder would proceed with increased speed. But I was mistaken, and have found the present Part the most difficult and troublesome of any, and accordingly it has been the longest in hand. My predecessor evidently slackened as he advanced, while I feel impelled by the love of my subject into an opposite course; and being by circumstances thrown more than ever on my own resources, my labours increase instead of diminish. Bibliographers will see that the present Part has received an unusual amount of attention; indeed, almost every principal article has been revised or enlarged. It may suffice here to mention a few; IRELAND, IRVING (Washington), JAMES (G. P. R.), JESTS, JOHNSON (Dr. S.), JUNIUS, KLOPSTOCK, KNIGHT (Charles), KOLMANN (my first master), KOTZEBUE, LAMARTINE, LANDOR, LARDNER (Dr.), LAMB (Charles), LONDON (L. E. L.), LEWIS, LINDLEY, LINNÆUS, LODGE, LONDON, LUTHER, LYSONS. Several of these, and especially JESTS, JUNIUS, and LONDON, have been so extensively elaborated, that they may fairly be called Monographs.

Besides these, all the Scottish articles, such as JOHN KNOX, Sir DAVID LINDSAY, &c., have been rendered very complete by the kind assistance of David Laing, Esq., of Edinburgh, than whom no one is better versed in this department of Bibliography. With respect to Junius, I have been fortunate enough to obtain the co-operation of two earnest enquirers into its authorship, and hence have been enabled to render the article more perfect than anything that has yet been presented to the public. One of these gentlemen, Joseph Parkes, Esq., has, by dint of constant attention, succeeded in forming a very remarkable collection, both of books and manuscripts, relating to the subject, and will probably, at some not very distant period, bring his labours to an interesting development.

And now, in respect to JUNIUS, I will reveal a matter which I have kept secret for the last ten years, governed more by some notions of my own as to professional employment, than by any circumstance connected with the particular transaction, which was of an ordinary character, and neither exacted nor implied any secrecy whatever.

In the middle of July, 1850, I was suddenly called upon to value, or as my instructions ran, "to inspect the political papers, manuscripts, and a library of books, at No. 3, St. James' Square;" and some pressure of circumstances required that this should be done within an hour, which I undertook.

On running my eyes round the library, I perceived a strong indication of politics in the time of George III., and, remembering that I was in the supposed precincts of Junius, I searched eagerly, but without success, for the vellum-bound copy. It was quite clear, however, from numerous gaps, that the older part of the library, for it consisted of two very distinct classes of books, had been thoroughly gutted. Having declared the value of it to be very small indeed in proportion to its extent, I was shown into the Manuscript room. Here I found a considerable quantity of carefully preserved papers, all, with the exception of two very large brown paper parcels (which were distinctly placed apart), contained in drawers, and chronologically arranged. I immediately turned to the Junius period, and there found—although nothing signed Junius—a great many letters from the King to the EARL OF HOLDERNESSE,* communicating and discussing political subjects without reserve; a considerable number from Sir Wm. Draper, one of them quailing about Junius, and wondering how he could have obtained information of certain matters, and others enumerating unrequited services, and earnestly begging a place; a vast many, often of a very confidential character, from the Earl of Hillsborough;† several from Benjamin Franklin, long and very interesting; and some, at various dates, from the Duke of Manchester, Duke of Grafton, Lord North, Chatham, the Grenvilles, Lord George Sackville, Chesterfield, and other political characters. In one of the drawers was a rough

* The Earl was on intimate terms with the King, had filled several diplomatic offices, and was twice Secretary of State in the previous reign. In 1771, April 12, he was appointed Governor to the Prince of Wales. He died, at an advanced age, in 1778. In the Grenville Correspondence is printed one of his letters, dated Nov. 20, 1755, in which he officially (being then in the ministry) discharges Mr. Geo. Grenville from his office of Treasurer of the Navy. His wife, Mary, Countess of Holderness, was appointed Lady of the Bedchamber in 1770, and his uncle, Sir Conyers D'Arcy, who died in 1758, had been Comptroller of the Household and Privy Councillor.

† The Earl of Hillsborough was a Member of the Privy Council, Comptroller of the Household, Joint Post-Master General, Secretary of State for the Colonies from 1768 to 1772, First Commissioner of Trade and Plantations from 1763 to 1772, (with short intervals in 1765 and 1767), and always on intimate terms with the King. He died in 1793.

draft, in the well-known upright kind of writing attributed to Junius, but corrected by another hand, of an unpublished letter of LUCIUS to the Duke of Grafton. It was endorsed letter X, and commenced, according to my memorandum, the only one I made, with—" A long retirement from the world of Politics may perhaps have rendered," &c.—and contained the phrases, proselyte, and busy scum, ending with the word children, and simply signed LUCIUS. This, it will be remembered, is one of the best authenticated Pseudonyms of Junius. Having to get through my valuation with extreme speed, I could take no deliberate notes, nor had I time to examine a tithe of the papers, which extended over nearly half a century. One rather interesting MS. was a Diary beginning at an early date, and ending, I think, with a journey to Paris, in the autumn of 1772, which is about where it might be expected to end to be connected with Junius; but in glancing hastily over it, without any aid but my memory, I could trace nothing in the shape of evidence. Feeling that I was in the path of discovery, I entreated to see the contents of the two large parcels set aside, which—full a quarter of a hundred weight each—were sealed at every aperture, and prominently marked on all sides 'most secret;' but this was declined until actual right of possession had been obtained. To secure these important papers, I offered five hundred pounds for those I had so hastily inspected, and as much more, speculatively, for the two parcels of 'most secret' ones; under a strong impression that the Junius correspondence was there; and I was promised them, in case they should be for sale. On subsequent enquiry, in October of the same year, I learnt that the papers had been claimed by the Duke of Leeds; and at a later period I was informed that they had been deposited in the strong room of a banker, with the possibility that they might come out at the end of six years; but not having since heard any more about them, I presume they are now immured among the family archives.

The house which contained these treasures was, in 1836, the residence of the late Duke of Leeds, whose ancestor, Francis Godolphin, fifth Duke of Leeds, married,* in 1773, the only child of Robert D'Arcy, fourth and last EARL of HOLDERNESSE, and succeeded, in 1778, to his Barony and estates. The only daughter of his son George William Frederick, sixth Duke of Leeds, was married, in 1826, to Sackville Lane Fox, Esq., M.P., who resided from 1836 until 1853 in the house in question, and appears to

* Mr. Croker, in Boswell's Life of Johnson, (vol. vii. page 362, Bohn's edition,) says that the doggerel lines composed on the marriage of the Duke of Leeds by one of his inferior domestics, and so familiarly quoted by Dr. Johnson, were on the occasion of the marriage of this fifth Duke of Leeds with his second wife, Catherine Anguish. But this is clearly a mistake, as the marriage did not take place till 1788, four years after Johnson's death. In a copy of Boswell's Johnson, with unpublished MS. notes by Mrs. Piozzi and her daughter Lady Keith, which I happen to possess, there is this note. "I fancy I was the lady, whose uncle, Sir Thomas Salisbury, used to repeat it for ever. The song was made by the porter of that Duke of Leeds (viz. the 4th) who married Lady Mary Godolphin."

The following are the lines, as quoted by Dr. Johnson, but Mrs. Piozzi gave another version of the second verse, and added a third:—

"When the Duke of Leeds shall married be
To a fine young lady of high quality,
How happy will that gentlewoman be
In his Grace of Leeds' good company!

She shall have all that's fine and fair,
And the best of silk and satin shall wear;
And ride in a coach to take the air,
And have a house in St. James's Square."

have had possession of the family manuscripts and so much of the Library as had not been removed.

These are the simple facts. If they do not reveal who was the actual writer of the Letters of Junius, they at least point out the head quarters of information, and account for some of the hitherto irreconcilable difficulties in adjudicating on the claims of Sir Philip Francis, who I believe to have been largely concerned, though not the sole and unassisted writer. Mr. Woodfall may himself have been a considerable go-between in the matter, just as I was between the 'Englishman' and the 'Times,' without caring to pry into a secret which, by disclosure, would frustrate his own objects. I have no leisure to follow out all the ramifications to which this discovery may lead, and must leave the interesting task to others. The enquirer will be aided in his researches by referring to my edition of Junius, and especially Mr. Wade's Essay, prefixed to the second volume.

The earliest known edition of part i. is that printed for Elizabeth Burbie. Lond. 1608. Halliwell, May 1857, 7l. In all probability this work had been read by Shakespeare in some earlier edition not now known. As at page iv. is the prototype of a passage in Lear, and there are numerous similarities of a like description. Mr. Heber possessed the second part, Lond. printed by C. Burbie, 1597, called in his sale catalogue, pt. vi. first edition, 1l. 6s. (both parts were assigned to Burbie in 1596 by John Danter, according to the Stationers' Books, see Ames, page 1366). Gordonstoun, 1312, without date (? two parts), 1l. 18s. An edition, Lond. printed for T. Snodham, without date, has been long considered to be the first.—Lond. 1670, both parts 4to.—Lond. 1675 (? 2 parts). Bright.

In the edition of part i. dated 1681, R. Johnson states the conclusion to have been 'finished at my house, May 22, 1616,' meaning thereby, it is presumed, that he finished modernising the ancient spelling, and that he was not the author of the work.

'The later editions we may be certain have accumulated errors of the press; and the booksellers, whose chief object is profit, have rendered them much less valuable than this early one, by abridgment or suppression, in order to bring the work into a smaller compass. Thus, to the examples they have in late editions subjoined Bible, instead of the particular part of the Sacred Writings, as Isaiah, Proverbs, &c. and Shakespeare to the examples taken from his works, instead of the particular play. One striking proof of the corruptions which have been introduced, may be found under ache.'—MS. Note by Edmond Malone.

JORDAN, Thomas. Poetical and other Works.

Jordan was the professed pageant-writer and poet-laureat for the city, and seems to have possessed a greater share of poetical merit than usually fell to the lot of his profession. He lived much upon Dedications; in many of his volumes the dedication is left open, so that by a distinct operation afterwards, by a small press which probably he worked himself, he could put in any name he pleased as his patrons from whom he hoped for, and probably obtained, money. See Baker's Blog. Dram. by Reed and Jones, Brydges' Censura Literaria, and Restituta.

JUNIUS. The Letters of Junius, including Letters by the same Writer, under other Signatures (now first collected). To which are added, confidential Correspondence with Mr. Wilkes, and his private Letters to H. S. Woodfall, with a preliminary Essay [by J. Mason Good, M.D.], Notes, Facsimiles, &c. Lond. 1812, 8vo. 3 vols.

Edited by Geo. Woodfall. LARGE PAPER in royal 8vo. Strettell, 752, 2l. 9s. Williams, 992, 3l. 16s. Second edition, with some slight additions and variations, but omitting the four pages of Advertisement. Lond. 1814, 8vo. 8 vols. 1l. 16s.

A presentation copy from Mr. Woodfall to Sir Philip Francis, of this second edition, was sold at his sale in 1838, for 2l. 2s., but it had no MS. notes or corrections.

Third edition enlarged, with further evidence as to the authorship, and an analysis by the late Sir Harris Nicolas, edited by John Wade; with a complete index. Lond. Bohn, 1850, 2 vols. post 8vo. 7s. Besides the notes of Woodfall's edition, this contains a Selection of the Notes of Robert Heron, as published in the edition of 1804. To vol. 2 is prefixed a Supplementary Essay of 80 pages, entitled 'The History and Discovery of Junius,' in which the editor assumes Sir Philip Francis to be the author, and disproves the pretensions of all other claimants.

The Letters of Junius first appeared in the Public Advertiser, (published by H. S. Woodfall), and have attained great celebrity, not only on account of the ability they display, but from the mystery which hangs over the author. It is a work which must always preserve its high place among the classics of England: the author was a first-rate master of the art of rhetorical invective. Lord Sackville, on the papers of Junius being imputed to him, replied, "I should be proud to be capable of writing what Junius has done; but there are many passages in his letters I should be very sorry to have written."

The ORIGINAL MANUSCRIPT LETTERS, so far as they have been preserved in the Woodfall family, were recently offered to the nation by Mr. H. D. Woodfall for 500l.

The Political Contest; containing a Series of Letters between Junius and Sir Will. Draper: also the whole of Junius's Letters to his Grace the Duke of Grafton. [Duke of Grafton.] Lond. Newbery, [August, 1769], 8vo. Price one shilling. Of this part there was a second edition, which has an Advertisement dated Aug. 12, 1769; and a third edition, undated.

The Political Contest, Part II.; being a Continuation of Junius's Letters from the 6th of July to the present Time. Lond. Newbery, (September 1769), 8vo. price Sixpence.

The Political Contest, containing all the Letters between Junius and Sir William Draper. Also the whole of Junius's Letters to the Duke's of Grafton and Bute. And his last Letter on the Rescue of a General Officer. Dublin, 1769, 8vo. This is called the third edition, and is probably a reprint of the second London edition.

A Collection of the Letters of Atticus, Lucius, Junius, and others. With Observations and Notes. Lond. Almon, 1769, 8vo. 2s. 6d.—New edition, continued to the end of October, 1769, 8vo. Lond. Almon, 1769, 3s.—New edition, continued to the end of November, 1769. Lond. Almon, 1769, 8vo. 3s.

A copy of this tract, with MS. notes and corrections, and the blanks filled up, by Sir Philip Francis, was sold at the sale of Sir Philip Francis's library, by Evans, in 1838, for 3l. 5s., and bought in the pseudonym of Armstrong, for Mr. H. R. Francis, of Kingston-on-Hull, a member of the family.

To which is added, a Letter from Junius, containing an Address supposed to have been made to a Great Personage. Taken from the Public Advertiser. London, printed and sold by all the Booksellers in London and Westminster, December, 1769, 8vo. 6d.

Two Remarkable Letters of Junius and the Freeholder, addressed to the King (King), with Answers and Strictures. Lond. printed and sold by all the Booksellers, 1770, 8vo.

The King's Answer to Junius. Philadelphia, U. S. 1771, 8vo.

Letters of Junius. Dublin, 1770, 8vo. 108 pages. Apparently a reprint of Almon's collection of the early letters, printed in 1769. There were other partial Irish editions before Junius finished writing.

A complete Collection of Junius's Letters, with those of Sir Wm. Draper. Lond. A. Thomson, 1770, 8vo. Re-issued, it would appear, in March or April of same year, with the Letter of March 19th.—Again, with the Letters of April 3rd and May 28th.—And again on Sept. 6th, with the Letter to Lord North, dated Aug. 22, 1770.

THE LETTERS OF JUNIUS. Lond. 1770, 12mo. with a vignette Cap of Liberty on title page. This is Wheble's first edition, but does not bear his name. It was this which served Junius as copy for his edition of 1772. It concludes p. 232, with the Letter to Lord North dated 22nd August, 1770. It was subsequently re-issued with Wheble's name pp. 247, having in addition the Letter to Mansfield of 14th Nov. 1770. A second volume appears to have been issued in 3 parts, the first dated 1770, the last 1771.—A bona fide new edition in 2 vols. followed, with an engraved title page, 'Printed for J. Wheble, 1771.' The title-page of vol. 2 is struck off from the same copperplate, and 'vol. 2' is introduced in type; and the MDCCLXXI is turned into MDCCLXXII by the addition of I, also in type. This edition, or at least the second volume of it, could not have been published until after Jan. 21, 1772, as it contains the letter to Lord Camden.—Another edition was published by 'Wheble, 1772,' 12mo. 2 vols. This also has an engraved title-page, but not the same; the date MDCCLXXII is engraved on it, but, as before, one title is made to do double duty by the addition of I in type for the second volume. There are also two editions of vol. 2 bearing the imprint 'Wheble, 1771,' on a typographical title-page, although both must have been printed after Woodfall's of 1772, as the one concludes with the note about Horne, and the other has the Philo-Junius Letters, and a Letter to Lord Apsley signed Junius, and dated Feb. 1775.—Another edition in 2 vols. 12mo. Lond. Wheble, 1775. This also concludes with the Letter to Lord Apsley. The probability is, that after Woodfall's authorised edition of 1772, Wheble found it necessary to help the sale of his superseded stock by adding the new matter to the copies on hand.

The genuine Letters of Junius, to which are prefixed Anecdotes of the Author. Lond. no printer or publisher, 1771, 8vo. 366 pages, ending with Letter, Oct. 8th. This edition, though without name of printer or publisher, bears on its title the word 'Piccadilly,' whence it is called the Piccadilly edition. (It would appear from internal evidence, that there was an earlier edition dated 1770, ending on page 255; which we have not seen.) The writer of the prefatory anecdotes assumes that Burke was the author, and without once mentioning his name, calls him Junius throughout. The Anecdotes are omitted in all the later editions.

The Letters of Junius. Lond. Henry Sampson Woodfall, Paternoster Row, 1772, 12mo. 2 vols. price 10s. 6d. THE FIRST AUTHORIZED EDITION, printed under the author's inspection; preceded by a dedication of 10 pages, a preface of 22, and illustrated with notes. It was published March 3rd, 1772, without Table of Contents or Index; but was re-issued about March 1773, with both Table of Contents and index. Many years afterwards, the remaining copies of either this edition, or a verbatim reprint, appear to have been sold off, and the date erased by the purchaser from the title-page, which accounts for a supposed edition without date.

A copy of this edition, dated 1772, sold at Horne Tooke's sale (with his MS. notes), 379, 1l. 13s. Resold, Heber, pt. vii. 2l.

The Letters of Junius. Dublin, Ewing, 1772, 12mo. 2 vols. Apparently a reprint of Woodfall's edition. It contains Dedication, Preface, and an Appendix of 14 Letters, either written by Junius or to which he replied, and which are not contained in Woodfall's previous edition.

The Letters of the celebrated Junius, a more complete edition than any yet published. Lond. 1783, 12mo. 2 vols. According to the Advertisement prefixed, there are 14 more letters in this than in the author's edition, (the same as in Ewing's just mentioned.)

A copy of this edition, with MS. notes and corrections, by Sir Philip Francis, sold at the sale of Sir Philip Francis's library, at Evans's, in 1838, for 12l. 12s., and was bought in the name of Armstrong, for Mr. H. R. Francis, a member of the family.

The Letters of Junius. New edition with a copious Index. Lond. (no publisher's name), 1788, 12mo.—1789, 12mo.—Lond. Hamilton, 1792, 12mo. 2 vols. 7s.

A copy printed on VELLUM was sold at a London auction in 1804 for 25l. 4s. Reprinted. Lond. Bensley, 1801, 8vo. 2 vols. With portraits. Drury, 2016, mor. 1l. 11s. 6d.—Again, Lond. Bensley, 1805, 8vo. 2 vols.

The Letters of Junius. Lond. Vernor, Hood, and Co., and others, 1800, 18mo. 2 vols. 10 portraits. This edition has a Bee-hive vignette on the title-page. It is not, however, the edition referred to by Lord Albemarle (in Memoirs of the Marquis of Rockingham, vol. ii. p. 188), nor is that edition yet identified.

JUNIUS—continued.

The Letters of Junius, with Notes and Illustrations, historical, critical, &c., by Robert Heron. Lond. 1802, 8vo. 2 vols.—Second edition, Lond. 1804, 8vo. 2 vols. A copy of Heron's second edition, London, 1804, with MS. corrections by Sir Philip Francis, was sold at his sale, in 1838, for 2l. 2s.

Numerous other editions of the Letters of Junius have appeared, both in England and America, varying in size from 8vo. to

III. and his minister, Lord North. The Magazine is also violent in its contents, but proceeded no further than one volume.

William Burke, the Author of Junius: an Essay on his Era, by Jellinger Cookson Symons. Lond. 1859, post 8vo. 3s. 6d.

Other writers have adopted the signature of Junius. The original author ceased to write under that signature after the spring, 1772.

In vol. iii. of the Grenville Correspondence, pp. xiii.-ccxxviii., edited by W. J. Smith [librarian at Stowe], Lond. 1852, 8vo. 4 vols., is a discussion on the authenticity of Junius's Letters, with specimens of the hand-writing of Richard Grenville, Lord Temple and others, assuming Lord Temple to be Junius.

In Galt's Life of West, pp. 57-69, he endeavours to fix the authorship on Laughlin McLean. So does Sir David Brewster, in various publications.

In Prior's Life of Burke, 1839; and in Campbell's Life of Hugh Boyd, prefixed to his works, Lond. 1800; will be found matter respecting Junius as connected with these names. Lord Campbell, in his Lives of the Chancellors, vol. 6, favours the claim of Sir Philip Francis.

Able articles on the subject have appeared in the Edinburgh Quarterly, and North British Reviews, the Athenæum, Notes and Queries, &c. Also in the following American Journals: North American Review, vol. 29 [by G. Cheever,] vol. 34 [by David Lee Child.];—American Monthly Review, vol. 1.—New English Magazine, vol. 1.—American Whig Review, vol. 13.—Southern Review, vol. 7; Christian Examiner, vol. 10, [by Henry Ware, Jun.] The American gentleman who has communicated these references, adds: 'Though some of the Letters of Junius were reprinted in the American (at least the Boston) newspapers of the time, no conjecture as to their authorship has been ventured there; and it is perhaps more remarkable, that there is no allusion to Junius in any of the published writings of Benjamin Franklin, although he was in London during the whole period.'

Aglio. 9 vols. imp. fol. hf. bd. morocco, privately printed, but originally sold at 140*l.*, now reduced to 35*l.*; or, with the plates coloured, originally sold at the rate of 200 guineas unbound, now hf. bd. morocco, gilt edges, 63*l.* Lond. Bohn, 1831-48.

The two additional volumes were printed long after the first seven vols. forming the 8th and 9th of the whole work, and are now sold separately, to complete sets, in red boards, as formerly done up, at 12*l.* 12*s.*

'This work in its magnificence recalls to mind the patronage of crowned heads, and the splendour of the princely patrons of literature. It has no taint about it of author or bookseller—it comes in the astounding form of seven (now nine) volumes, imperial folio! and if, as we have heard, no copy be sold that is uncoloured, the cost of producing the whole will exceed fifty or perhaps sixty thousand pounds! This point, however, is not determined, and the publishing price will be, we believe, plain. 120*l.* coloured, 175*l.* (that is, for the seven volumes.) There are two copies printed on vellum, which may be estimated at three thousand guineas! The title-page well explains the subject; but as it does not often fall to our lot to report upon such works, and as but few of our readers are likely to see it, we shall be a little more particular.'—Athenæum.

Egestorff, after animadverting upon the English prose translation, relates his own offer of this version, when in London, to various booksellers, and was told by one and all, 'we are satisfied with what we have got;' and proceeds to say, 'Perhaps they may be doubly satisfied with what they have got, for it may be justly said, that, in their translation, the Messiah has been crucified a second time.' In justice to the translator, this version, though containing some Germanisms, is in very good Miltonic blank verse, and a very readable book.

LEMON, Rev. George William. English Etymology, or a derivative Dictionary of the English Language. Lond. 1783, 4to. 10s. 6d.

Roxburghe, 2197, 9s. Dent, pt. ii. 590, 12. 2s. 6d. Horne Tooke, 104, 12. 12s. In this work the author pretends to find a derivation for every word in Saxon, German, Dutch, Latin, Greek, Hebrew. See Pig's Petty-Toes.

'Mr. Lemon was Dr. Parr's immediate predecessor in the mastership of Norwich School. He was not a very skilful teacher, and knew little of the world; but he was a worthy man, had great industry and much learning. He was the intimate friend of Spelman, and was assisted by Spelman's papers.'—Bibliotheca Patritiana. Lemon's Etymological Dictionary was published by subscription, chiefly among his Norwich friends. It has been said, that on the refusal of a Mr. Beasley, a very ponderous gentleman, to subscribe to his book, and owing him besides some grudge, he explained the word 'Obesity' as an exclamation commonly uttered at the sight of Old Beasley; and that the leaf was almost immediately suppressed by legal appliances. The writer, however, has never been able to meet with a copy containing this leaf, and begins to doubt its existence.

It is included in Bishop Watson's Collection of Theological Tracts, who observes, 'This treatise was first published in 1695, without Mr. Locke's name; he concealed his being the author of it from his most intimate friends. A learned and ingenious prelate observed, 'If Mr. Locke writ it, it was the best book he ever laboured at.' Le Clerc, in his Bibliothèque choisie, said that it was 'un des plus excellens ouvrages qui ait été fait depuis long-tems sur cette matière et dans cette vue;' and Limborch preferred it to all the systems of divinity he had ever read. Dr. Edwards wrote against it; and his objections produced from Mr. Locke two vindications of it, Lond. 1695 and 1697, 8vo. These merit the reader's attention as much as the work itself, which has long been generally approved.'

This spirited translation in blank verse, inscribed (seven years after Marlow's death) by Thomas Thorpe 'to his kind and true friend, Edward Blunt,' in a vein of much quaint familiarity, dry humour, and shrewd sarcasm on the mock patrons of former times, is reprinted in Marlow's Works.

Lucan's Pharsalia, transl. into English Verse, by Sir Arthur Gorges, Knight; whereunto is annexed the Life of the Author, collected out of divers Authors. Lond. 1614, 4to. Though sometimes diffuse and paraphrastical, it is in general faithful to the sense of the original; the language is animated, the verse correct and melodious.' According to the Quarterly Reviewers, 'Rowe undertook his translation more in the spirit of party than in poetry, and the best portions of it are those which are least worthy of attention in the original.'—1732, 12mo. 2 vols.
